ABSTRACT OF THE INVENTION

A method for generating a unique device ID for each addressable device in a stack of multiple addressable devices by encoding a device ID for one device in the stack and determining a device ID for each of the other devices based on the device ID of an adjacent device in the stack.

EV336580883US   42P15837